College of the Redwoods Program Review Home Page

The Program Review process was developed to provide a means of systematic, collaborative, and evidence-driven evaluation for all instruction, student services and institutional support areas. In order to assure maximum effectiveness, reviews are conducted on a regular cycle and the findings are linked to the annual planning process for all programs and services.

The program review cycle consists of annual reviews and a comprehensive review every five years. Links to the Program Review membership, agendas and minutes, schedules, completed current reviews and program review archives are located on this page.
