1	No protein left for lunch for many of us who were not first in line.	3/30/2015 1:28 PM
2	Best ever.	3/25/2015 6:11 PM
3	Great Workshops and great variety of subjects!	3/25/2015 1:46 PM
4	The workshops that I attended at 1 (The Limits and Possibilities of Schooling in an Unequal Society) and 2:30 (An Ignition for Better Cognition), which are not listed above, were also very good.	3/24/2015 3:56 PM
5	Thanks for the chairs instead of bleachers! Content was good, and the variety of workshops is good. There were several I would have liked to attend.	3/24/2015 9:57 AM
6	I like Pedro Noriega presentation. I wanted to attend to other presentations on the same time that he was presented. It would have been better to have a longer opening and have him talk than having him for short presentations since we are missing other good presentations also.	3/23/2015 8:18 PM
7	It's getting better every year. The President's remarks had set the stage for the day. A real joy, thank you	3/23/2015 5:36 PM
8	Overall, the day was above average, with some excellent moments. Noguera was inspiring and the workshops were all relevant. Maybe a workshop with students describing their experiences with teachers they consider excellent, good, and needs improvement.	3/23/2015 3:47 PM
9	A panel of Special and grant funded programs repeated in all 3 sessions so that more employees know what these progrms do.	3/23/2015 1:01 PM
10	Opening segment could better be served if we could have discussion between administration, staff, and teachers about issues in making SMC a better teaching institution. Would like to see more workshops on improving teaching. The food this time was great	3/23/2015 10:29 AM
11	Keynote speakers often set up a nice rosy scenario for us to aim at. This scenario is one most of us embrace. The difficulty comes in achieving it, and typically this is the area that is least developed. The effect is that the day sort of puffs us up and makes us all think--good--we all agree and we're moving along--but in reflection, we have little to take away to move us further along toward, in this case, equity. I think future professional development could be more hands on in some ways. Such an approach might involve more exchange of assignments--or sharing of problems, issues, approaches to class work.--Gordon Dossett	3/23/2015 10:28 AM
12	I would like the "workshops" to be more interactive and productive: a "workshop" is where something is created. Perhaps we can use this time to implement or practice new ideas rather than simply communicate information. In addition, I would like to have more opportunities to build relationships with colleagues from across the College. Could we have the option do more fun, interactive activities? I think better relationships will help us work better as a team to support students. Sometimes this happens best in more informal settings. Maybe we need to get away from the lecture rooms on campus and be more innovative about the venues, content, and purpose of these events. While it is useful to hear external speakers and learn more about developments at SMC, I think there is a missed opportunity to have some fun together, develop relationships, and strengthen the whole community. Finally, I really missed the student voice...can we work WITH students instead of talking ABOUT them? Can we play together to improve learning together?	3/23/2015 10:09 AM
13	Great day overall.	3/23/2015 9:14 AM
14	all very good	3/23/2015 7:37 AM
15	I would have enjoyed more techniques from the speaker	3/22/2015 9:25 PM
16	more practical ones, e.g., STRS Retirement, Medicare	3/22/2015 8:39 PM

Spring 2015 Professional Development Day

17	Superb PD day. Excellent planning and organization. Inspiring ideas and very inspiring opening speaker. BRAVO!	3/22/2015 6:45 PM
18	Congratulations to PDC committee. This professional development day was very useful and applicable. Workshop sessions that I attended were very well conducted. Thanks for all your hard work.	3/22/2015 3:56 PM
19	Pedro Noguera was awesome. I would love to see him return to SMC!	3/22/2015 3:52 PM
20	Addressing affective way to assist athletes in learning inclusive of motivating them to learn... specifically the approach that has proven affective.	3/22/2015 3:41 PM
21	Publish topics in advance to Adjunct Faculty. Will likely get more of us to attend.	3/22/2015 2:44 PM
22	I liked the Safari to Significance the best because that was mine! And the students made me very proud. As usual a wonderful flex day. Thank you all for your incredibly hard work!	3/22/2015 1:41 PM
23	Future Workshops: Cross Gender Students-	3/22/2015 1:27 PM
24	You folks do a wonderful job!!!! Maybe something on issues to do with when there's racial tension in the classroom (Even betw black and brown). Language in the classroom... And academic freedom? (use of profanity on part of faculty and students alike...it is part of culture)	3/22/2015 12:42 PM
25	Experts come to tell us how to teach. Dr. Noguera is an engaging and genuine person, but we who spend out lives in the classroom understand the problems better than he does. Though the stats show we have far to go, we are doing a serious job competently and passionately. As always, we must all keep trying.	3/22/2015 12:41 PM
26	This was one of the best Flex Days I remember since we had students tell their own stories. Dr. Noguera was inspirational. Greg's skit was entertaining too. Thanks.	3/22/2015 11:34 AM
27	Excellent!	3/21/2015 6:57 PM
28	Too much sitting - we should not be required to sit for so many hours. The lunch was much better last fall.	3/21/2015 4:34 PM
29	This was a nice day. Thanks for organizing it. I wish that some of our own faculty were less preachy, but I guess they just couldn't help themselves. We don't want or need a speech code ("civility").	3/21/2015 2:51 PM
30	I left the "The Limits and Possibilities of Schooling in an Unequal Society" feeling bullied, exhausted, and traumatized--not because of the speaker, who was excellent, but because the faculty comments part of the session became a venting opportunity for a handful of angry, destructive, self-appointed spokespersons for minority issues. The speaker did NOT invite this dynamic actively. I was at that session because I care deeply about doing my best to serve our minority population, not because I wanted to be told by my colleagues that I shouldn't have been hired because I have I don't look enough like our minority students. I don't think the speaker knew what he had signed up for in regard to the present incivility and bullying among our faculty politically. I don't fault the PDC, but just wanted to let you know my experience. Thank you! Brian Driscoll	3/21/2015 2:47 PM
31	As unwieldy as it might be, one of these days we should have flex days that ask more participation of the attendees. On the equity theme, in particular, we need to ask people to speak and act--to make change. That isn't going to happen until we show people we are serious about changed behavior, not just good listening.	3/21/2015 2:32 PM
32	Pedro Antonio Noguera, Ph.D. outstanding and motivating.	3/21/2015 1:20 PM
33	How about some workshops that are a little more fun and not just about stuff I can get at conferences and seminars during the semester.	3/21/2015 12:19 PM
34	Thank you to the PDC for organizing such a great day. This is one of the best I've attended. All the workshops were great. I especially enjoyed the workshops with Dr. Pedro Noguera	3/21/2015 11:57 AM
35	Thank you for another valuable day. Since there are many more workshops than an individual can attend, please consider making resources (audio/video recordings, PowerPoint Presentations, Notes) from all of the workshops available to whomever wishes access them soon after Institutional FLEX day.	3/21/2015 11:56 AM
36	One of the best speakers we've had in many years. Inspired choice! And the lunch was excellent, too!!	3/21/2015 11:25 AM
37	More real safety training - CPR, First Aid, police academy for faculty, etc. But not at the "baby level", but professional grade workshops with certification at the end, and in the case of the "police academy" perhaps with certain fitness prerequisites.	3/21/2015 11:05 AM
38	So many good offerings. Hard to choose which seminars to attend. Would have loved handouts from the Ignition/Cognition session. Opening session, especially film, was WONDERFUL.	3/21/2015 9:32 AM
39	Please don't run out of food at lunch as happened this time.	3/21/2015 9:15 AM

Spring 2015 Professional Development Day

40	Good selection of workshops..... Engaging student participation in classes would be a good topic as always.	3/21/2015 8:38 AM
41	We often speak in theoretical terms about the need to help students of color succeed. I think we're all on board with the idea. How about offering some practical and applied techniques? What are five things I can do, as a Caucasian faculty member, to help?	3/21/2015 6:45 AM
42	There was not a clear tie-in between the civility video and the rest of the opening session, and there didn't seem to be a context for it.	3/20/2015 11:53 PM
43	Something should be presented on Student Learning Outcomes, Academic Senate committees and the Use of Video Games in the Classroom is something I'd consider presenting in the Fall.	3/20/2015 11:19 PM
44	More practical and problem solving workshops like the library one. Less of the same old "this is what your student are like and how tough it is"-we know, thanks a lot! Above all, please add some physical activity choices and health related topics.	3/20/2015 11:00 PM
45	As always, the day was very well organized, and the lunch was delicious. I especially liked the spinach salad with strawberries.	3/20/2015 9:58 PM
46	The session I attended were great. I really would like to see the college do real work around equity. that is all compassing of every department on campus.	3/20/2015 9:31 PM
47	This was an excellent opportunity to network with full time faculty and staff! As a part-timer, I'm not always sure what is available to our students. Met a number of people who helped me learn outside of the workshops. I know it's a lot of work but the committee that planned this day should know that their work is appreciated and it was very beneficial!!!!!!	3/20/2015 7:59 PM
48	Administrative response to bullying is the opposite of what is recommended by the research...and actually makes things better for the bully and worse for the target.	3/20/2015 6:34 PM
49	Thanks to the Professional Development Committee for all their hard work!	3/20/2015 6:34 PM
50	The best one so far.	3/20/2015 6:33 PM
51	In the future, I would like to see a workshop on how educators can connect with families of our first generation low income student population so as to foster an authentic supportive and learning environment. I would also like to see a study skills workshop where instructors can implement learned strategies within the classroom.	3/20/2015 6:29 PM
52	When a workshop takes place in HSS 165, there should be multiple sign-in sheets, both at the beginning and at the end of the session. There is always a huge bottle-neck with everyone trying to sign in as they're leaving. Better yet, how about the honor system?	3/20/2015 6:04 PM
53	Good Noguera workshop, but would like more specific feedback on how to include more concrete techniques.	3/20/2015 6:04 PM
54	-Letters of Recommendation -Do's and Don'ts.....How not to be overwhelmed...how to set rules to limit number of letters requested...how to decline requests...how to handle multiple requests to same institution (e.g. SMC Foundation for scholarships).....review FERPA requirements	3/20/2015 6:03 PM
55	Nicely done. Good selection of topics.	3/20/2015 5:34 PM
56	Dr Noguero's lectures were practical and interesting.	3/20/2015 5:20 PM
57	I think this professional development day was successful because it was filled with workshops that were more interactive and brought back the meaning & importance of why we come together to meet.	3/20/2015 5:20 PM
58	I thought that both of the marquee speakers were excellent. An academic hat trick, more or less.	3/20/2015 5:19 PM
59	Morning session is unbearable. Often not useful to someone who is already informed but mainly horrible painful to sit in those chairs for so long	3/20/2015 5:13 PM
60	As a new F/T faculty member I really enjoyed and appreciated this experience.	3/20/2015 5:09 PM
61	An outstanding presenter like Pedro Noguera gives the day a positive jolt. I appreciated his thought provoking opening speech and his workshops.	3/20/2015 5:01 PM
62	Excellent planned day! Only issue that I had is that you ran out of chicken and several of us did not get any at all.	3/20/2015 5:00 PM
63	I really loved Dr. Noguera's presentations. I hope we are able to invite him back to SMC again. I also thought the honor council presentation was excellent!!	3/20/2015 4:58 PM

Spring 2015 Professional Development Day

64	Dr Noguera was a fantastic speaker and had a lot of excellent information. I would to see him, or Dr Van Brunt, again!	3/20/2015 4:58 PM
65	Please make the opening session shorter in the future. Instead, please add more workshops. Also, please start and end these sessions earlier. Start at 8am and end at 3pm. Many faculty have to fight traffic back home.	3/20/2015 4:53 PM
66	whoops. Ran out of chicken. That was a shame. had to go off campus to get some food.	3/20/2015 4:53 PM
