ABOUT THE MEAL PROJECT

Food is sometimes more than food. It sustains and empowers. SMC Foundation's MEAL PROJECT is stepping up to help Santa Monica College students in need, including students formerly in foster care, homeless students, and Veterans, so they can persist in their education throughout the COVID-19 crisis and beyond.

Many students are faced with the sudden loss of their jobs, and thousands were already relying on campus meal programs and food pantries prior to the shift from on-site to online classes. We are also deeply concerned about our Emeritus students, who have been quarantined longer than most, given their vulnerability and high-risk age-group. We have already begun home delivery of healthy meals to students thanks to donations received so far and our partnership with mission-driven Everytable. Homeless students are receiving meals through rendezvous points. Please help us reach our goal of $2 million - to continue to feed thousands of students facing food insecurity.

#1 Transfer College: SMC transfers more students to UCLA, USC, the UC system and Loyola Marymount University than any other California community college.

World-class Faculty: According to Rolling Stone magazine, SMC faculty "are hired based almost solely on their effectiveness in the classroom."

Offers Top Professional Training Programs: students are entering high-paying jobs in nursing, computer technology, early childhood education, graphic design and many more after completing exceptional training programs.

State-of-the-Art Campus: With smart classrooms and modern facilities, as well as hundreds of classes offered online, SMC is able to offer exceptional classes to a wider audience.
