IV. SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

- Management Association Report: Management Association President Al Vasquez acknowledged JoAnn Ortiz for her ten years of service as Director of Institutional Advancement and for her upcoming retirement. JoAnn will be formally recognized by the Management Association at its next meeting.
- Updates
 - Winter and Spring 2010 Enrollment: Since the December 1 beginning date for the enrollment cycle is three weeks later than that for Winter and Spring 2009, meaningful enrollment comparison figures were not yet available. However, course offerings for winter and spring are at the same level as 2010, and a significant number of students are enrolling.
 - SMC Foundation: JoAnn Ortiz, Executive Director, is retiring effective December 31, 2010. The Foundation made significant strides under her leadership, including the doubling of its assets from $8 million in 2000 to $16.5 million in 2010; a ten-fold increase in unrestricted annual gifts from $20,000 to $200,000; the creation of the President's Circle, which in the last decade contributed $1.5 million to the Foundation; and the doubling of the number of scholarships, from 300 to 600. Chip Potts, Foundation Associate Director, will serve as interim Director until a permanent replacement is selected. This is expected to take three to four months.

RECOMMENDATION NO. 3

SUBJECT: REAL ESTATE AGREEMENTS FOR THE EXCHANGE OF PROPERTIES WITH THE CITY OF SANTA MONICA

SUBMITTED BY: Superintendent/President

REQUESTED ACTION: Staff recommends that the Board of Trustees authorize the Superintendent/President to negotiate real estate agreements with the City of Santa Monica for the exchange of real estate interests in land located at 1831 Stewart Street (“Olympic Shuttle Lot”) and 3400/3500 Airport Avenue, to assist with the creation of a buffer area adjacent to the proposed Phase 2 Exposition Light Rail Maintenance Facility.

COMMENT: At its December 8, 2009 meeting, the Board of Trustees authorized the Superintendent/President to explore a land exchange with the City of Santa Monica and the Exposition Construction Authority for the purpose of providing a buffer area next to a proposed rail maintenance yard planned for 2909 Exposition Boulevard.

On Tuesday, November 23, 2010, the City Council unanimously approved a recommendation that provides authority for the City Manager to negotiate and execute an exchange of properties between the College, the City, and Expo for this purpose.

The proposal, developed in cooperation with SMC and Expo, is for SMC to trade its 2.35-acre Olympic Shuttle Lot, acquired in 2007, to the City in exchange for a 25-year lease (with extensions up to 99 years) of approximately 2.71 acres at the Santa Monica airport adjacent to the Bundy campus. The lease includes an option to purchase. The proposal also includes authority to negotiate with the City of Santa Monica regarding acquiring an additional 0.4 acres of the site, bringing the total to approximately 3.1 acres. The City intends to exchange the acquired SMC property with Expo to create a buffer for the neighbors from the proposed Expo Maintenance Facility.

If Expo’s activities require SMC to vacate the SMC Parking Lot site before SMC has access to the Airport Residual Land site in 2015, the City will provide interim replacement parking acceptable to the College.

The proposal includes the desire for the City, College, and Expo to make every effort to implement a tri-party exchange of properties through simultaneous closings.

DISCUSSION:

Appraisals have been completed, including a third-party review appraisal, to determine the market value of the SMC Olympic Shuttle Lot and the Airport properties. The SMC Parking Lot is approximately 2.35 acres (102,410 square feet) in size. City and SMC appraisers have determined the SMC Parking Lot's current value to be $150 per square foot. However, the Airport Non-Aviation Land is valued at $130 per square foot. In order to create equivalency between the two sites given the different land values, SMC would need to lease approximately 2.71 acres (118,165 square feet) of Airport Non-Aviation Land or the City would have to compensate SMC for the difference. The equivalency in appraised value is:

- A. SMC site = 102,410sf @ $150/sf = $15,361,500
- B. Airport site = 118,165sf @ $130/sf = $15,361,500

Approvals related to this land swap are being considered by the City of Santa Monica and SMC under mutually agreeable terms and conditions and in accordance with applicable state and federal law, including CEQA and any Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) rules and regulations. The City and SMC agree to cooperate with respect to the presence on the respective properties of any contaminants or hazardous substances that require environmental remediation under applicable law. Each party will assume responsibility for assuring that all legally responsible parties for any contamination on its respective property remain legally responsible for any required cleanup or remediation.

The Airport Non-Aviation Land has several existing tenants with leases that extend to June 30, 2015. SMC's lease of the Airport Non-Aviation Land will not commence until after all the leases expire. Until June 30, 2015, the City will continue to collect and retain rent from the existing tenants. If Expo's Maintenance Facility activities require SMC to vacate the SMC Parking Lot site before SMC has access to the Airport Residual Land site in 2015, the City will provide interim replacement parking acceptable to the College. If SMC develops the Airport Non-Aviation Land site, SMC agrees to install a landscape buffer that is acceptable to the City and SMC. Existing traffic restrictions along Airport Avenue will not be altered. SMC will be responsible for the demolition of any Airport structures subject to the review and approval of City. If SMC is unable to exercise its option to purchase the Airport Non-Aviation Land site, then at the expiration of the lease, the site will return to the City under terms as yet to be determined.

DISCUSSION ITEM H

SUBJECT: ACCOUNTABILITY REPORTING FOR COMMUNITY COLLEGES

SUBMITTED BY: Superintendent/President

SUMMARY: Teresita Rodriguez, Vice-President of Enrollment Development and Hannah Alford, Director of Institutional Research, presented an overview of the Accountability Reporting for Community Colleges (ARCC).

Accountability Reporting in the Community Colleges (ARCC) contains seven measures of student progress and achievement as they relate to the broad mission of the California Community Colleges to support transfer, degree and certificate completion, and basic skills. The measures developed for ARCC reflect a refinement of some of the measures from previous accountability initiatives, such as the Partnership for Excellence (PFE), as well as an expansive consultation process with education scholars and community college practitioners from the field.

The legislation for Accountability Reporting in the Community Colleges (ARCC) requires that a college's local Board of Trustees annually review the college's ARCC report. No action is required by the Board; review of the narrative, and the selection of material contained in Appendix C, fulfills this legislative requirement.

11-B AMENDMENT TO AGREEMENT FOR ARCHITECTURAL SERVICES – PERFORMING ARTS CENTER EAST WING

Amend the agreement with DLR GROUP/WWCOT for programming, planning, working drawings and construction administration to add additional scope for site planning for the Performing Arts Center site for $21,618 plus reimbursable expenses.

Funding Source: Measure AA

Comment: During the planning for the East Wing a number of site issues came up which needed to be addressed. Some of the issues include the following: parking, vehicle access and drop-off, pedestrian access, site landscaping and sustainability, suitable spaces for outdoor events, signage, and SMC Art Gallery. During the planning and construction of the Broad Stage the resources were not available to address all these issues. It is preferable to provide the site planning now before another new facility is added to the site.

11-D AMENDMENT TO AGREEMENT FOR ARCHITECTURAL SERVICES – STUDENT SERVICES ENTRY GARDEN

Amend the agreement with MELÉNDREZ for programming, planning, working drawings and construction administration to add additional scope for the Student Services Entry Garden for $19,000 plus reimbursable expenses.

Funding Source: Measure S

Comment: Once the scope of the design of the student organic garden was completed, its effects on the south entry to the new Student Services complex were studied. New student pedestrian traffic patterns were determined and additional walkways are needed to handle the increased number of students passing through area without disturbing the gardens or adjacent landscaping. The overall size of the student organic garden has not increased but additional landscaping and walkways have been added to better handle the increased pedestrian traffic. Due to the increased scope and grading of the site, a civil engineer is required to be added to the team.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES	INFORMATION
Santa Monica Community College District	December 7, 2010

APPENDIX A

SUBJECT: TRANSFER PROGRAM

SUBMITTED BY: Dan Nannini, Transfer Center Faculty Leader

This has been the year of transfer awareness, exemplified by three big events. First, the CSU system closed Spring 2010 admissions, drastically reducing transfer admission by 25% statewide for the academic year 2009-2010. Second, for the second straight year (2008-9 and 2009-10), the UC system increased their transfer goal by 500 students, and exceeded that goal. Third, and most visible, the California legislature passed and the governor signed Senate Bill 1440, The Student Transfer Achievement Reform Act.

The CSU has responded to state budget cuts and uncertainty by reducing both freshman and transfer admits. In 2008-9, the CSU accepted 49,770 California community colleges (CCC) transfers in total, while accepting 1,011 from SMC, ranking 10th of all California community colleges. In 2009-10, the CSU accepted 37,647 transfers from California community colleges, 780 from SMC, ranking us 7th of all California community colleges. These numbers come from CSU Analytic Studies, on the CSU Chancellors website.

For the first time ever, Santa Monica College sent 1,053 students to the University of California in 2009-10. The second biggest CCC transfer school sent 666. Although the UC increased their transfers for 2009-10 4%, SMCs transfer numbers went up by 12% for 2009-10. These numbers were received in an SMC specific report from the UC Office of the President, and posted numbers at the California Postsecondary Education Commission website. Another innovation this year with UC was the ability for students to get Transfer Admission Guarantees (TAG) online for 2011. All campuses, except Berkeley and LA, participated in the TAG Program. For 2010 admission, 81 SMC students submitted 173 TAGS, whereas for 2011, 609 SMC students submitted 2,185.

In years past, I have received transfer numbers from the UC for all California community colleges based on ethnicity. However, this year, I have only received the numbers for SMC, so we can compare 2008-9 and 2009-10. In 2008-9, SMC sent 32 African-American transfers to the UC, and 106 Latinos. In 2009-10, SMC again sent 32 African-Americans, and 114 Hispanics (“Hispanics” is a different ethnic designation for 2009-10, replacing “Latinos”). For the CSU, in 2008-9, SMC sent 72 African-Americans and 242 Mexican-American and other Latinos, and for 2009-10, SMC sent 55 African-Americans and 177 Mexican-American and other Latinos.

SB 1440, The Student Achievement Transfer and Reform Act became law, signed by the governor in late September 2010. This bill guarantees a place for a CCC transfer student in the CSU system if the student earns a Transfer Associate of Arts at a California community college with a 2.0 GPA. The AA degree consists of 60 CSU transferable semester units and completion of either the CSU GE or IGETC and a minimum of 18 units in the major. I think the most important provision of the law requires that the CSU designate a maximum of 60 more units to complete the degree after transfer, for CSU majors that require 120 units to graduate. I am on the SB 1440 Implementation and Oversight Committee, and we have had one meeting in Sacramento, with many, many more planned.

Santa Monica College continues to transfer the most students to USC. In Fall 2010, we sent 195 students to USC, and the next highest institution sent 87 students. In Fall 2009, we sent 173 students. We also sent the most students to Loyola Marymount University in Fall 2010. These numbers are provided by the Office of Admission. In addition, we sent 11 students his Fall 2010 to Columbia University in New York. Transfer numbers from other private or out-of-state institutions are inconsistent, or not provided

Additional Questions and Answers regarding transfer:

How do we collect transfer numbers? Are these sources accurate?

Most transfer numbers are provided by the CSU or UC system office, or, in the case of private institutions, by the Office of Admissions. We rely on these entities regarding the accuracy of the numbers. The definition of a transfer student is up to the receiving institution and 'credit' for the transfer institution can be determined by such factors as last school of attendance prior to transfer or the number of units completed at the transfer institution.

Do we have an internal process that accurately reflects the number of students who transfer?

No.

How can we better monitor transfer?

Students that transfer must send official transcripts to the institution that they transfer to. Perhaps using this action to track transfers would be a possibility. This was done years ago by my predecessor, Brenda Benson, but it requires confirming the enrollment of the SMC student with the receiving institution.

Do we have data on students transferring to for profit schools?

Not any clear transfer data. Some students start at for-profit, come to us, then go back to the for-profit. According to the data provided by the National Student Clearinghouse, this student would appear as a transfer student. The real conundrum is that there is no clear definition of a transfer student in the for-profit world.

Maintaining Our Focus: ACCOUNTABILITY REPORTING FOR CALIFORNIA COMMUNITY COLLEGES (ARCC) 2010 REPORT

December 2010
Office of Institutional Research

The current document provides a brief description of Santa Monica College’s (SMC) performance on the 2010 Accountability Reporting for the California Community Colleges (ARCC) data indicators. The ARCC report contains seven measures of student progress, success, and achievement as they relate to the broad mission of the California Community Colleges to support transfer to a four-year institution, degree and certificate completion, career preparation, and basic skills development. The seven performance measures are categorized into two areas, student progress and achievement and pre-collegiate improvement. Three indicators measuring degree/certificate/transfer and one indicator measuring vocational/occupational/workforce development make up the student progress and achievement area. Three indicators measuring basic skills, ESL, and enhanced non-credit make up the pre-collegiate improvement area (see Table 1).

College Performance

An analyses and description of SMC's performance on the seven indicators for the last three available years of data is discussed in this section. In addition, peer group and system-wide performance averages for six of the seven measures are reported. Currently, the ARCC report only provides peer group and system-wide comparison data for the last available year of data. Peer groupings cluster colleges together that are more alike than different in terms of environmental characteristics demonstrated to have a statistically significant effect in predicting each of the outcome measures. As a result, peer groups vary by measure and may not conform to a college's perception of its peers geographically or historically. It is important to note, that the Chancellor's Office did not intend for the peer groupings to be used as a ranking system among the colleges; the clusters are designed to provide a benchmark for tracking performance across the measures¹.

1.1: Student Progress and Achievement Rate

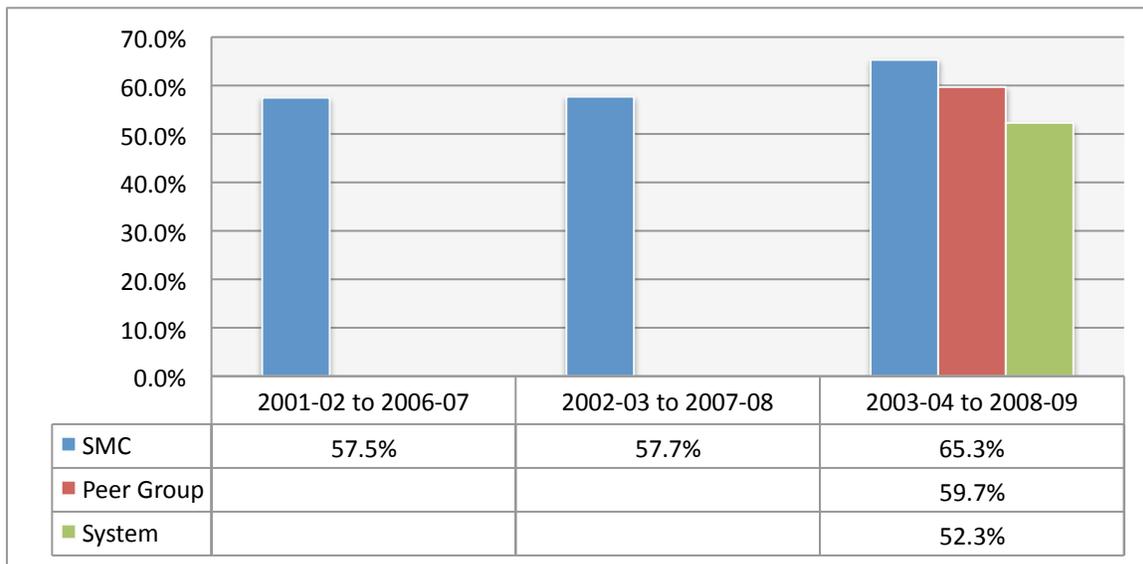

Student Progress and Achievement Rate was calculated by deriving the percent of students in a cohort who achieve one of the following outcomes within six years of initial enrollment:

- Transferred to a four-year institution;
- Earned an Associate Degree, anywhere in the California Community College (CCC) system;
- Earned a Career Certificate, anywhere in the CCC system;
- Achieved "Transfer Directed" status (successfully completed transferable math and English); or,
- Achieved "Transfer Prepared" status (successfully completed 60 or more transferable units with a minimum GPA of 2.0).

Students who achieved "transfer directed" or "transfer prepared" status may have completed part or all of the units at another CCC. Students in the cohort were first-time students in academic years showing intent to earn a certificate/degree or transfer by earning at least 12 credit units and attempting at least one degree applicable or transferable English or math course, or an advanced CTE (Career Technical Education) course.

¹ For a more detailed description of the peer group methodology, refer to Appendix A in the complete system-wide report: <http://www.cccco.edu/Portals/4/TRIS/research/ARCC/ARCC 2010, March 2010.pdf>.

In general, approximately six in ten first-time students who showed intent to earn a certificate/degree or transfer made progress and achieved one of the five outcomes listed above. The trend across cohort years shows an improvement: the rate increased by nearly eight percentage points from 57.5% in 2001-02 to 65.3% in 2003-04. The cause for the improved performance in this area has not been documented; however, the large planned course offering reductions in 2003 and changes in enrollment priorities in 2004 may provide some context for the increase in the Student Progress and Achievement Rate.

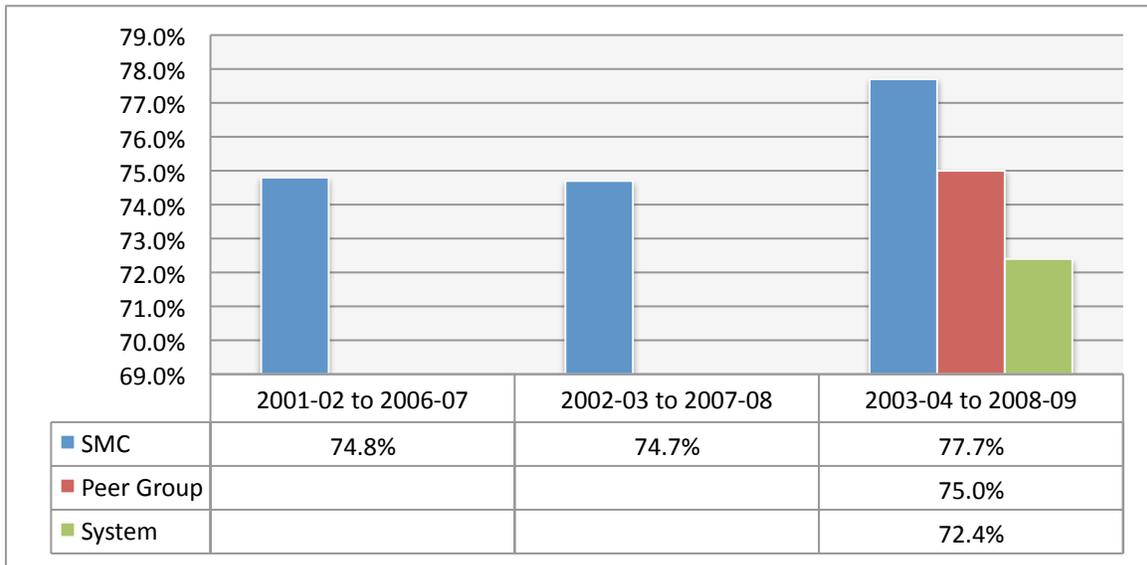

The peer group clusters were formed by putting colleges who score similarly on three environmental variables: percent of students age 25 or older in fall 2005, percent of basic skills fall 2005, and the Bachelor Plus Index. Colleges in the peer group for this indicator include Crafton Hills, Cuesta, De Anza, Diablo Valley, Fullerton, Golden West, Grossmont, LA Pierce, Las Positas, Moorpark, Orange Coast, Pasadena City, Sacramento City, San Diego Mesa, Santa Barbara City, Sierra, Skyline, and Ventura. The peer group average Student Progress and Achievement Rate in 2003-04 was 59.7%; SMC’s performance was 65.3%. SMC outperforms its peer group on this indicator.

The CCC system-wide average Student Progress and Achievement for 2003-04 was 52.3%, lower than SMC’s rate of 65.3%. SMC does better on this indicator than the system’s average.

1.1a: Percent of Students Who Earned at Least 30 Units

The Percent of Students Who Earned at Least 30 Units was calculated by dividing the total number students in a cohort who earned 30 or more credit units in the system within six years of initial enrollment. Students in the cohort were first-time students in academic years showing intent to earn a certificate/degree or transfer by earning at least 12 credit units and attempting at least one degree applicable or transferable English or math course, or an advanced CTE (Career Technical Education) course.

Overall, about three-quarters of students who showed intent to earn a certificate/degree or transfer made progress towards an award or transfer by earning at least 30 units. This measure is a good indicator for progress and success of students as wage studies have documented the positive effects of completing 30 college units on wage earnings. There is a slight increase in performance from 74.8% in 2001-02 to 77.7% in 2003-04.

The peer group clusters were formed by putting colleges who score similarly on three environmental variables: student count fall 2005, average unit load fall 2004, and Economic Service Area Index per capita income. Colleges in the peer group for this indicator include American River, DeAnza, Diablo Valley, El Camino, Long Beach City, Moorpark, Mt. San Antonio, Orange Coast, Palomar, Pasadena City, Riverside, Sacramento City, Saddleback, San Francisco City, Santa Ana, and Santa Rosa. SMC performs only slightly better than the peer group average on the Percent of Students Who Earned at Least 30 Units indicator (SMC, 77.7%; Peer group, 75.0%). SMC performs better on the indicator when compared with the system-wide average (72.4%).

1.2: Persistence Rate

The Persistence Rate is the percent of first-time students in fall terms who earned six or more units who enrolled in at least one credit course in a subsequent fall term anywhere in the system. The rate excludes students who were exclusively enrolled in Physical Education (PE) courses and those who transferred or received a degree or certificate in their first year.

Overall, about three-quarters of first-time students in fall terms persisted to the subsequent term. The Persistence Rate has slightly improved over the last three cohorts.

The peer group clusters were formed by putting colleges who score similarly on three environmental variables: percent students age 25 or older fall 2006, student count fall 2006, and Economic Service Area Index household income. Colleges in the peer group for this indicator include American River, Mt. San Antonio, Palomar, Pasadena City, Riverside, San Francisco City, Santa Ana, and Santa Rosa. On average, SMC persists at a similar rate when compared with the peer group average. SMC students persist at a higher rate when compared with the system-wide average (68.7%).

1.3: Annual Successful Course Completion Rate for Credit Vocational Courses

The Annual Successful Course Completion Rate for Credit Vocational Courses was calculated by dividing the total number of A, B, C, CR, or P grades by the total number of earned grades, excluding RD (report delayed), in credit Career Technical Education (CTE) courses for the last three academic years. CTE courses were defined as courses with SAM (Student Accountability Model) priority codes A, B, C. Courses with these SAM codes are determined to be clearly occupational. Data for special admit students (those enrolled in K-12 when they took the course) were excluded from the analyses.

Figure 4. Annual Successful Course Completion Rate for Credit Vocational Courses

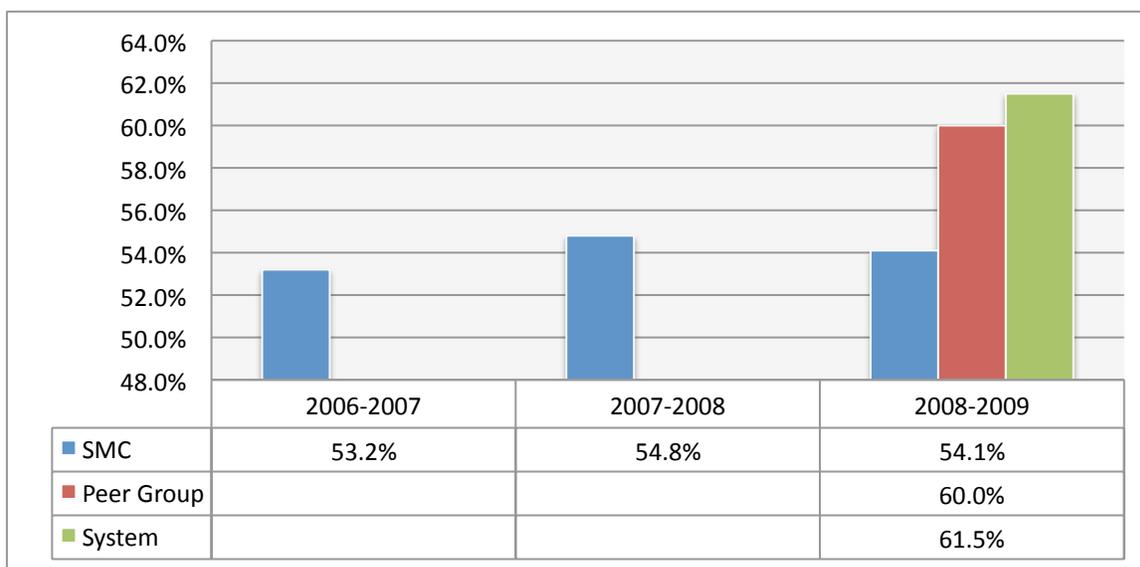

The success rate in CTE courses is approximately 68%. The course success rate has slightly increased from 67.8% in 2006-07 to 68.3% in 2008-09.

The peer group clusters were formed by putting colleges who score similarly on three environmental variables: percent male fall 2007, percent students age 30 or older fall 2007, and miles to nearest UC campus. Colleges in the peer group for this indicator include Antelope Valley, Chaffey, Citrus, Compton, Copper Mountain, Crafton Hills, Cypress, DeAnza, Desert, Diablo Valley, El Camino, Evergreen Valley, Folsom Lake, Fresno City, Fullerton, Glendale, Golden West, Grossmont, LA Harbor, LA Mission, LA Pierce, LA Valley, Los Medanos, Modesto, Moorpark, Mt. San Jacinto, Orange Coast, Oxnard, Pasadena City, Riverside, Sacramento City, San Diego City, San Diego Mesa, San Joaquin Delta, Santa Barbara City, Solano, Southwestern, Venture, Victor Valley, and Yuba. When compared with both the peer group (74.7%) and system-wide (77.5%) averages, disproportionately fewer students at SMC are successful in their CTE courses (68.3%).

1.4: Annual Successful Course Completion Rate for Credit Basic Skills Courses

The Annual Successful Course Completion Rate for Credit Basic Skills Courses was calculated by dividing the total number of A, B, C, CR, or P grades by the total number of earned grades, excluding RD (report delayed), in credit basic skills courses for the last three academic years. Basic skills courses were defined as those that were non-transferable, including courses applicable towards the Associate Degree. Data for special admit students (those enrolled in K-12 when they took the course) were excluded from the analyses.

The success rate in basic skills courses is approximately 54%. The course success rate has slightly increased from 53.2% in 2006-07 to 54.1% in 2008-09.

The peer group clusters were formed by putting colleges who score similarly on three environmental variables: student count fall 2007, nearest CSU SAT math 75th percentile 2007, and poverty index. Colleges in the peer group for this indicator include Cerritos, Chaffey, East LA, El Camino, Glendale, LA Pierce, Modesto, Mt. San Jacinto, Pasadena City, Rio Hondo, Riverside, and Santa Barbara. When compared with both the peer group (60.0%) and system-wide (61.5%) averages, disproportionately fewer students at SMC are successful in their basic skills courses (54.1%).

A grade distribution analysis found that more than half of all unsuccessful grades in basic skills courses were fail grades (D, F, I, NC, NP). Drop grades (DR or W) accounted for approximately four of ten unsuccessful basic skills grades. The percent of grades that were fail marks has slightly increased over the past three academic years.

1.5: Improvement Rates for ESL and Credit Basic Skills Courses

The Improvement Rates for ESL and Credit Basic Skills Courses were calculated by dividing the number of students in the cohort, students who successfully completed (C or better) a basic skills course two or more levels below transfer, who successfully completed a higher-level course in the same discipline within three years by the total number of students in the cohort. Students were counted only once for each discipline, regardless of the number of times they ‘improved’ through the sequence of courses. Special admit students (those enrolled in K-12 when they took the course) were excluded from the analyses.

Table 2. Improvement Rates for ESL and Credit Basic Skills Courses

	2004-2005 to 2006-2007	2005-2006 to 2007-2008	2006-2007 to 2008-2009
	SMC	SMC	SMC	Peer Group	System-wide
ESL Improvement	69.8%	71.9%	73.0%	59.3%	50.1%
Basic Skills Improvement	61.1%	61.8%	64.2%	49.2%	53.2%

The ESL Improvement Rate over the last three cohort years was approximately 70%; the rate has increased from 69.8% in 2004-05 to 73.0% in 2006-07. About six in ten basic skills math and English students improved through the sequence. The rate has increased from 61.1% in 2004-05 to 64.2% in 2006-07.

The peer group clusters were formed by putting colleges who score similarly on three environmental variables: student count fall 2006, percent students age 20 or older fall 2006, and English Not Spoken Well index. Colleges in the peer group for this indicator include Bakersfield, Cerritos, Chaffey, DeAnza, El Camino, Fresno City, Fullerton, LA Pierce, Long Beach City, Modesto, Mt. San Antonio, Orange Coast, Pasadena City, Riverside, Sacramento City, San Diego City, San Diego Mesa, San Joaquin Delta, Santa Barbara City, and Southwester. SMC (73.0%) outperforms both the peer group (59.3%) and system-wide (50.1%) on the ESL Improvement Rate indicator.

The peer group clusters were formed by putting colleges who score similarly on three environmental variables: percent on financial aid fall 2006, average unit load fall 2006, and selectivity of nearest four-year institution 2006. Colleges in the peer group for this indicator include Alameda, Allan Hancock, American River, Berkeley City, Cerritos, Chabot, Compton, Contra Costa, Cuesta, Cuyamaca, Diablo Valley, El Camino, Folsom Lake, LA Harbor, Laney, Los Medanos, Merritt, Ohlone, San Diego City, San Diego Mesa, San Diego Miramar, Southwest LA, Ventura, and West LA. SMC (64.2%) outperforms both the peer group (49.2%) and system-wide (53.2%) on the Basic Skills Improvement Rate indicator.

1.6: Career Development and College Preparation (CDCP) Progress and Achievement Rate

The Career Development and College Preparation Progress and Achievement Rate was added to the ARCC report in 2008 as a result of legislation (SB 361, Scott, Chapter 631, Statutes of 2006) that increased funding for specific noncredit courses. The 2010 ARCC document reports CDCP data for only 37 community colleges/schools of continuing education; therefore, there was no peer grouping for this indicator. Of the seven measures in the ARCC report, the CDCP Progress and Achievement Rate indicator is the least developed. However, performance on this measure should be addressed in discussions of student success.

The CDCP Progress and Achievement Rate was calculated by deriving the percent of students in the cohort who achieved one of the following outcomes within three years:

- Successfully completed a degree-applicable credit course;
- Earned a CDCP certificate, anywhere in the CCC system;
- Transferred to a four-year institution;
- Earned an Associate Degree, anywhere in the California Community College (CCC) system;
- Achieved “Transfer Directed” status (successfully completed transferable math and English); or,
- Achieved “Transfer Prepared” status (successfully completed 60 or more transferable units with a minimum GPA of 2.0).

Students in the cohort were first-time students in academic years who accrued at least eight hours of attendance in a CDCP course within a year and who did not enroll in a credit course. This indicator is currently in the development stage and has not been consistently reported for all colleges in previous years.

Table 3. Career Development and College Preparation (CDCP) Progress and Achievement Rate

	2004-2005 to 2006-2007	2005-2006 to 2007-2008	2006-2007 to 2008-2009
CDCP Progress and Achievement Rate	--	15.3%	15.3%

Data for the 2004-05 cohort were unavailable. Overall, approximately 15% of non-credit first-time students made progress or achieved an outcome within three years of initial enrollment. The rate has not changed over the last two years of observation.

Summary

SMC demonstrates improvement on six of seven performance indicators (Student Progress and Achievement Rate, Percent of Students Who Earned at Least 30 Units, Persistence Rate, Annual Successful Course Completion Rate for Vocational Courses, Annual Successful Course Completion Rates for Basic Skills Courses, and Improvement Rates for ESL and Credit Basic Skills Courses). Performance is steady on the seventh indicator (CDCP Progress and Achievement Rate).

SMC outperforms its peer groups and the state-wide average on four of six performance indicators (Student Progress and Achievement Rate, Percent of Students Who Earned at Least 30 Units, Persistence Rate, and Improvement Rates for ESL and Credit Basic Skills Courses). However, the college performs below the peer group and system-wide averages on the two indicators related to course success (Vocational and Basic Skills Courses). Further analyses should be conducted to identify the factors affecting course success. Peer group and system-wide data for the seventh indicator (CDCP Progress and Achievement Rate) is not available.

While the ARCC report has its value, for example, the ability to compare performance on measures with peer colleges, the report is not without its limitations. The ARCC report currently provides aggregate percentages for the college performance measures. The report does not provide student-level data or counts that were used to calculate percentages; the report is limited in that colleges are unable to customize the data that is useful for the college. Secondly, the ARCC report relies on MIS data for analyses; data accuracy is dependent on how local colleges code their courses. SMC has found errors in MIS codes for its courses (primarily in basic skills and CTE). Lastly, the peer group methodology used in the ARCC report is unstable; peer colleges vary depending on the reporting year for the same indicators. In addition, the Chancellor's Office does not report on the reliability or validity of the statistical models used to group peer colleges.

The ARCC report is aligned with the college's Institutional Effectiveness (IE) Report. Six of the seven ARCC indicators are addressed in the IE report. The ARCC data, however, is reported separately from the college's annual discussion of institutional effectiveness as the legislation for ARCC requires that a college's local Board of Trustees annually review the college's ARCC report. No action is required by the Board; this narrative fulfills this legislative requirement. The ARCC report, when paired with the large, more comprehensive IE report, is intended to stimulate dialogue about local trends, SMC students, our programs and services among various campus constituents. SMC's performance on the ARCC measures is best understood within the context of local conditions. Therefore, the ARCC report is only the beginning point in assessing college performance related to student learning and achievement.

Appendix: SMC's Response to the ARCC Report and Self-Assessment

The following narrative was submitted to the California Community College Chancellor's Office in response to the college's performance on the ARCC measures. It contextualizes the data by identifying local factors that affect the measures.

SMC Self-Assessment:

Established in 1929, Santa Monica College serves a diverse population of approximately 51,000 students annually; including California residents, out-of-state, and international students. The college has one of the strongest reputations for transfer in California and transfers the highest number of students in total to the University of California, the University of Southern California, and other four-year universities.

Santa Monica College demonstrates above average performance in relation to the state on five of the seven college performance indicators. These include: student progress and achievement rate, percent of students earning 30 units, fall to fall persistence rate, ESL improvement rate, and the basic skills improvement rate.

With regard to vocational course completion, in-depth analyses of college and state level data reveal substantive differences between the number and type of vocational offerings at SMC and that of the state. As a result, the college examines and assesses its performance on this measure in terms of improvement over time rather than in relation to the state benchmark.

The college also exhibits improved performance over its baseline year in all seven performance indicators. Substantive increases in performance are also observed in the student progress and achievement rate, the percent of students earning 30 units, the fall to fall persistence rate, the ESL improvement rate, and the Basic Skills improvement rate.

SMC's above average performance on the majority of measures is related to its tradition of integrating student support services with instruction. Counseling programs focusing on the first year assist students through the transition to college as well as with proper educational planning to meet future goals. The college offers over 19 specialized counseling programs such as the Latino Center, the African American Collegiate Center, specialized financial aid counselors, and a Scholars program. Above average progress and achievement rates are attributable to the resources invested in student success, high quality instruction and instructional support, and the implementation of innovative and effective student services.

Vocational education and Basic Skills remain areas of focus for SMC. The college is engaged in examining relevant student performance data in an effort to identify gateway courses and provide relevant and effective support services for students.

Positively, the college experienced a nearly three percent increase in the basic skills improvement rate over the baseline year and a nearly one percent improvement in the basic skills successful completion rate. The college is expanding access to instruction for developmental students and addressing student outcomes through various student support and instructional initiatives. Through its student success programs and Institutional Research Office the college is actively engaged in establishing outcomes assessment for the program components that are part of the Basic Skills Initiative. It is anticipated that high coordination, focused attention on these students' needs, and outcomes assessment of the BSI program components will result in improved outcomes for students. As well, the college is participating in the statewide initiative to examine and update course coding processes to ensure accuracy related to ARCC measures in the Basic Skills area.
